About Mediation

Mediation is an effective and inexpensive way to resolve disputes quickly. It is a voluntary and confidential process in which two or more people meet face-to-face to work out a mutually acceptable solution to the problem. We work together to develop options, consider alternatives, and come to a win-win solution.

Our mediators are volunteer professionals from the community who receive specialized training in communication skills and conflict resolution. A mediator is a neutral third party who does not give advice or decide who is right or wrong.

A mediation can be scheduled at a time that is convenient for you. Fees are based on a sliding scale depending upon your annual income and/or case type.

Services That We Offer To The Community

Mediation

Try mediation before going to court. Two mediators can help find common ground between parties to resolve their differences in an environment where all participants feel respected and heard.

Meeting Facilitation

A trained facilitator can help your family, business, or community group stay focused to achieve your meeting goals and ensure full participation. MMS help groups with differing interests come together to promote group consensus, open dialogue and deal with strong emotions.

Civility in the Workplace

Managers and supervisors spend a substantial amount of their time resolving workplace conflict. MMS offers custom trainings specific for your business or organization to develop interpersonal skills, to reduce conflict and to increase productivity. Imagine the time and money your business could save with less conflict.

Mediation Training

Would you like to be a mediator in your family, business or community?

MMS offers a 30-hour professional training to gain an understanding of the mediation process. From there you can apply to be a volunteer mediator with our agency and learn skills that can be used professionally and personally to help resolve conflicts and improve relationships.

We also offer training in Divorce Mediation, Conflict Resolution and Peer Mediation for our youth.

Custom trainings for businesses are also available.

Youth Program

MMS offers workshops and trainings for young people to learn conflict resolution and peer mediation skills. What they learn now will teach them how to resolve conflict for the remainder of their lives.
